I believe America would not be in the lead of Computer intelligence had it not been for Microsoft. When you are a leader, you encounter jealousy & hate. Americans might be respected around the world but never loved by the world. Such is the case with Microsoft as was the 12 year case against IBM. Quit biting the hand that feeds you. I am against any breaking apart the Firm of Microsoft. And I am against any party receiving their software codes.

I am going to start a campaign to end Porn spam, the majority coming from AOL member sites, which seems that this would be the interest of the integrity of the internet and software legalities. Porn sites can't think of enough ways to make money, be dishonest in undeliverable return email addresses, leaving the angry recipient no choice but to track down the headers, and source code of the web sites in order to put a stop to them flooding, I said flooding, vulgar, unrequested email to email addresses that they randomly solicit to. This should be against the law. So why don't you put your legal efforts where they protect the public interest. Or are many of you partners with these porn sites and receiving monies on affiliations. Do something about it before I have to, and then your legal teams will be sited & sued for not upholding the internet laws. (TITLE 18, CHAPTER 47). Ignorance is no excuse in the eyes of the law. I'm tired of drawing a line for your flimsy morals. I have a choice to use Microsoft or any other software I want. Microsoft isn't infringing on my freedom, my private email address, my choice.
